Dear Mr McDonald,

I refer to your enquiry concerning the availability of our product Nardil® (phenelzine sulfate).

We regret to inform you that, due to circumstances outside of our control, there continues to be a delay with the supply of Nardil. We are doing all we can to rectify this situation, but the delay is expected to last for the foreseeable future, and we do not have an exact date when UK product will be back in stock.

Please note that the product has not been discontinued.

Should you have any questions regarding your treatment, we can only recommend that you contact your doctor, consultant, or pharmacist for guidance as they are best placed to assist you.

If you have a prescription for Nardil please ask your pharmacist to contact us directly when, if your doctor and pharmacist are in agreement, we can suggest an alternative way to obtain Phenelzine Sulfate 15mg tablets.

In the event your physician may have further queries, they should contact Kyowa Kirin Medical information: medinfo@kyowakirin.com

I hope that this information is helpful to you. Please do not hesitate to contact Medical Information again if you require any further assistance.

Yours sincerely,
